BE STATES. The Two Dakotas and Montana to Hold Conventions Today-The Farmers' Alliance Playing

an Important Part. By Telegraph to The Times.

BISMARCK (Dak.) July 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Tomorrow the Constitutional Convention of the new State of North Dakota will assemble in this city Republicans of the Territory, who are in derricks the majority, allowed the Democrats to have Hill, so tion and there will be a strong effort to keep up the minority rep the new Constitution. V

The Farmers' Alliance organization, having large membership and being very powerful politically, has enunciated a platform of the principles which they wish to place in the Constitution, and they have a sufficient membership in the convention and enough power in the State to make their demands of great weight. Among the planks in their platform are the following: Government control of railroads and of all public necessities, the prohibition of the iliquor traffic, election of United States Senators by a popular vote, courts of arbitration, the abolition of the contract-system of public works, self-supporting criminals, women's suffrage, few appointive and many elective offices, and the Australian system of voting.

All these principles cannot be expected to obtain place in the new Constitution, but many of them will make a hard fight for position. The questions of prohibition, woman suffrage, the Australian ballot system and minority representation will come in for a good share of attention, and there has already been a good deal of strong argument in favor of one legislative body. The Australian ballot system with some modifications, together with one or two of the principles mentioned, will undoubtedly appear in the new document. The Constitution already adopted for the new State of Souih Dakota is well thought of here.

READY FOR TODAY'S GRAND

Programme-Line of March List of the Aids and Various Commanders of Divisions - A Number of Country People in the City.

The annoying little fire-cracker in the hands of this great country's future statesmen announced early last evening that the glorious Fourth is again at hand. All arrangements for the celebration were completed last night, and there is no doubt but that it will and there is no doubt but that it will be a success. Merchants and business men have been busily engaged dusing the past few days decorating their places, and the city presented a very pretty appearance last night. It is estimated that about 200 business firms will join in the parade.

All of the lines of railroad running out of the city are giving half-fare.

A LARGE FIR LOG lately uncovered, which lies at such a point on the mountain side, and in such a deposit as to indicate to the student of Nature that it has been ouried there at least a thousand years. Coming up the canon, the first desirable camping place is at the warm spring, about four miles from the mouth. This spring apparently comes out of the bedrock, at the side of the canon, and flows about 25,000 gallons per day. No analysis has been made of the water, but, like most of the warm springs of Southern California, it smells as if it had been put through a fruit bleacher. The temperature is about 90°. Rude, but respectable bathhouses have been erected, and baths may be had at a nominal fee. They are presided over by Mr. Pratt, an old gentleman, who spends his summers on his mountain ranch near by, and takes a kindly interest in the campers who come and go. He also keeps a small stock of provisions.

"Purity in Literature and Art." The speaker said:

Much of the holy scripture is devoted to the training and development of the childhood of our race. Christ in His loving tenderness toward children sets us an example we ought prayerfully to follow. We all know it matters not how much ability or genius the child may have, without the necessary atmospheric surroundings to properly develop. Nature can do nothing. To be a musician one needs to breathe in a musical atmosphere. To develop artistic traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child the home wails must be traits in the child a book house and to run toy engines and boats, that the taste is developed for architectural and mechanical pursuits. If in these childhood hours the ideals of life are formed and the planted germs are for a future career, then how necessary that the germ seed should consist of that which is pure and good. We who have our tastes and ideas formed have but little knowledge of the vast circulation of impure printed matter, and perhaps not a few in this audience would be surprised were they to give the subject careful attention.

"The pen is mightier than the sword." The pen is mightier than the sword." The pens has grown to be the agency for good and evil. higher life, or dishonor, misery and degradation.

If we would have men and women capable of wisely governing the affairs of the Nation, we must afford them opportunity of reading books that will not only entertain and amuse, but will at the same time create in them the desire to become all that is noble, manly and true.

Our children come to us as pure as the snow that falls upon the mountain tops, and a chill of horror creeps over us when we contemplate the possibility of their becoming contaminated by what they shall see and hear. We must watch carefully that not one vile page is ever read to them.

We can take courage in the words of Talmage, who believes the press will be the chief agency for the rescue and evangelization of the world, and that the last great sattle will not be fought with gunshot, but with types and presses—a gospelized printers are the will crush out chean literwith types and presses—a gospelized pring press that will crush out cheap lite

A SADDLE AND BRIDLE OF WONDERFUL MECHANISM.

The Property of Capt. Dixle W. Thompson of Santa Barbara-An Ideality of the Olden Time-Reins and Ropes of Spun Silver

Everybody at Santa Barbara and up and down the coast, "thar or thar abouts," knows Capt. Dixle W.Thomp-son. He had followed the sea for 10 years, when, drawn to this coast by the argonautic floodtide of 1849, he bade adieu to his seafaring life to follow the fortunes of the golden coast. He settled in Santa Barbara in 1852, and has lived in the county ever since, having large possessions in Santa Bar-bara and Ventura counties, following the occupation of ranchero much the occupation of ranchero much of the time, residing four years on Sata Rosa Island, being for a time manager of the Arlington Hotel, Santa Barbara, and an all-round business man and capitalist. Capt. Thompson came down from Santa Barbara yesterday, bringing with him his silver-mounted Mexican saddle and bridle and his fine horse to ride in the Fourth of July procession today.

The saddle and bridle, which are works of art, were brought to the Times office yesterday afternoon, where they remained some time, the cynosure of all eyes. It is safe to say that, in the way of horse equipments, there is nothing in the country to equal or approach them. Any old-time Spanish Don or Mexican caballero, who could look upon them and know of their possession for a brief hour, would feel that he had realized enough of the glories of this earth, and would be willing to take his translation to the great beyond immediately thereafter.

ing to take his translation to the great beyond immediately thereafter.
The saddle is of the typical Mexican pattern, with a high pommel, a well-hollowed seat and ponderous strirrups. The facings are of the finest and heaviest fair leather, stamped in the most elaborate designs, and the seat is of soft leather, quilted. The saddle proper was made two or three years ago by S. Loomis, a harness-maker of Santa Barbara, for exhibition at a fair. But when the saddle, elaborate and costly enough in itself, was completed and ready for exhibition, it was then only at the beginning of its career of elaboration.

Capt. Thompson had an idea in his head that he would like to spend some of his surplus coin—and he was not particular how much of it—in getting up for himself an outfit that would not only astonish the natives, but would outshine all previous efforts of the dons and caballeros and men of note, from the earliest times. So he purchased the prize saddle and employed Señors Sebestino and Felipe Trujillo, father and son, silversmiths of cunning abilities and long experience, to elaborate the work under his direction. He gave them carte blanche so far as expenses went. They commenced their task in April, 1888, and devoted over a year to it, having completed the work only a few days ago.

"How much did it cost?" said the

"How much did it cost" said the Captain, when plied with the usual Yankee question.

"Well, I don't know. Whenever the boys wanted money they came to me for it, and whenever they called for more Mexican dollars, The Joseph William of the State of the S place, is woven of hair from horses' manes by a native artisan, and is fully eight inches broad, with an ostentatious tassel hanging down at its middle.

Be it understood, this is a saddle that is supposed to be practical as well as ornamental, and if there is one requirement that the oldest vacquero would find wanting in the exigencies of a grand round-up, then the work is a failure, and the combination of Capt. Thompson's ambition a barren ideality. But if the saddle is a marvel, what shall be said of the bridle and its appointments! There is a little steek, a little copper, and a quantum of leather in the headstall, but all the rest is of silver, even to the reins, the martingales and the whip.

The leather of the headstall (cabesada), comprising the bands at the sides and over the top of the head, are covered with fluted silver. There are large engraved rosettes at the sides, and in front there is a broad silver plate (frental), upon which is engraved:

'D. W. Thompson, Santa Barbara, '88,' with decorations of flowers and heads of wheat. A couple of light silver chains cross under the horse's nose with a six-pointed star at the point of crossing. There is a separate nose piece (bosal) made to 'encircle the horse's nose above the bit, and this is most elaborate in chasing and engraving.

The bit is one of those extensive and lies in the horse's tongue, and is fitted with a little wheel that turns around and makes a peculiar noise with the working of the animal's tongue. There are, besides, crossrods, encased in little rollers of copper, all of which have their peculiar offices.

The side pieces are of silver, massive and ornate. There is a silver chain to go under the horse's jaw, called barbada, and which forms a leverage on the animal that would bring the most refractory to terms. Attached to the bit are massive ailver chains called cadinas, to which the reins are attached with snaffles.

All of the parts usually supplied in a bridle by straps and reins are made up of spun silver woven into ropes. The throat latch (hogadedo) is of this material, with a silver slide and an ornate tassel to hang down under the animal's neck.

The reins (rindas) are of half-inch silver cord, done in lengths of about half a foot, with ball tips connected lits a link. The reins come together with a silver hand-hold about the size of an apricot, which sildes up and down. Attached to the end of the reins there is a whip (ramada) of the same woven wire rope about four feet long and done in sections of a foot each, with the same ball tips and link fastenings. At the end of this whip is the pojuela or tassel, formed of six strands of lesser silver cord, each tipped with alltile ball. The caballero carries this ramala in his free hand as he rides along, and a mere motion of it is sufficient to control the movements of his high-strung charger. Your thorough caballero never rides with a spur while he is on dress parade. There is, besides, a collar of the silver rope, which goes about the charger's neck with a burnished breast plate in the form of a heart. To this is attached a cord reaching to the girth under the animal's belly and another hooked to the nose-plece of the bridle, and serving as a martingale (rajador).

The bridle, with reins and accessories, weighs 12 pounds, the greater part of which is silver. There is $250 worth of coin in the spun silver of which the reins are made.

THE SEWAGE QUESTION. Test Case Brought in the Courts.

An important suit was begun vester day by the filing of a complaint in the Superior Court. The plaintiff is W. T. Spillman, and the suit is against J. H. Bryson, J. Downey Harvey, W. J. Broderick, James McLaughlin, et al., of Santa Monica. It is an attempt t prevent the emptying of sewage on the beach at Santa Monica.

the beach at Santa Monica.

The plaintiff alleges that he is the owner of a part of the beach at Santa Monica, bounded on the north by the south line of Montana avenue, if projected to the ocean; on the west by the Pacific Ocean; on the south by the line of the right of way of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad; on the east by the bluff; that the land is a part of the Vicente y Santa Monica rancho.

part of the Vicente y Santa Monica rancho.

He states that the defendants are the occupants of certain lots and dwellings on the easterly side of Ocean avenue, 200 feet from the top of the bluff, and allege that they have constructed conduit pipes for sewerage running from their dwellings across the avenue and to the beach. These pipes have been used and are now being used to conduct the sewerage to the beach, and the result is noxious and offensive smells from it, and injury to health.

He asks that an injunction be granted perpetually restraining the defendants from the further use of these sewage pipes. The petition was presented to Judge McKinley during the afternoon, and he issued a temporary restraining order. The day for hearing the prayer of the petitioner was fixed for July 11th at 10 a.m., and at that time the defendants will be required to show cause why the injunction shall not be made perpetual.

FROM every section of the country tributes of respect and affection for the late Mrs. Hayes continue to be heard. God's noblest work is exalted manhood, and such was hers.

CHINCH-BUG cholera is prevailing extensively ln Kansas, and the farmers of that State are rejoicing greatly thereat, as, for a time, it seemed inevitable that these pests would work heavy destruction to the crops.

IT really begins to look as if the Jews might again inherit Jerusalem. It is asserted that they number 30,000 more than the Moslem and Christian population combined. This looks like the beginning of the fulfilment of prophecy.

THE world is always ready to take up any new fad. It is claimed, for instance, that there are 150,000 active Christian scientists in the country. There should surely be a large decrease in the death rate of the population, if these 150,000 healers can accomplish all that they claim.

THE Herald's proposition, to adopt the Munich plan, and, instead of using sewers, run our sewage out of town every day on a sort of sewage vestitrain, and dump it into a big trench, may have its advantages, but we scarcely believe it would meet the views of a sufficiently large number of our citizens to give it a show of adop-

Not at all, brother, we were simply waiting for the depot site and a few other matters to be determined apon so that we could give at once all particulars to our benighted brethren of the north.

THERE is a general demand among respectable citizens that houses of pros-titution should be restricted to a cermated section of the city. We tain designated section of the city. We must look at these things as they are; it is no use shutting the eyes to facts, and acting upon a basis of things as we would like to have them. It may we would like to have them. It may not be easy to fix upon any special locality, but an attempt should be made, as at present these houses are spreading in various directions, and a householder is liable at any time to find one established next door to him, to the great prejudice of morals and depreciation of property.

AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE.

American independence! What does not the term comprehend? What was the civilized world when our independence was achieved, compared with what it is today, after more than a century of American liberty?

The advance which the Nation has made in scientific discovery, in broadened educational views and methods in political wisdom, in religious truth, wealth, in the development of its resources, in the enlargement of its the in territory, in the wonderful increase of population, and in all that goes to There will be a matinee today in addition make up a great, progressive, and enmake up a great, progressive and enlightened people, is simply marvelous. Wipe out from the history of man all that has been achieved by American civilization, and you extinguish the human achieve crowning glory of ments. Americans have taught the world that liberty is not a dream; that individual sovereignty is a sublime fact. There is not power enough in human oppression ever to stamp it out again from the face of the earth.

But not only are the benign influences of freedom felt here in this land, but there is not a throne among en lightened peoples whose power is not held in check by it. Every man of intelligence, who knows and understands the needs and the rights of the individual, has a secret yearning, which it is impossible for him to suppress, for liberty. It is the effervescence of this half-defined but ever-present desire that leads the Russian nihilist to plot against the life of the Czar. The voke of tyranny sits heavily upon him, the chains of oppression gall him, and blindly, with dark plottings, with the power of dynamite and the assassin's knife, he seeks to rid himself of them. Over the seas and beyond mountain height the air of liberty is wafted and men long to breathe it and become free.

Rome, in the grandeur of her power and in the vastness of her empire, pre sented to the world no such inspiration as does free and united America today Though she had mighty rulers, whom after death, the nation deified-though she was mistress of the world, Rome's thought was never that of liberty for every citizen. Rome loved power; she loved the exaltation of her rulers; she loved conquest, but she did not love man as man-she did not recognize the manhood of her citizens. Great were her Cæsars as instruments of power, but they were not great enough to be lifted out of selfishness and to set the eople higher than the throne.

With American independence came the dawn of a new day for the world. And in this broad daylight how rapid Ir the explosion of gunpowder brings and restraining tyranny, lifted above

Third—A failure to comply with either of the above conditions should work at once

During the boom Los Angeles gave away valuable street railroad fran chises with reckless liberality. Some of the companies thus favored have fulfilled their promises, while many have not. There is no doubt that good many franchises, not only for street railroads but also for steam-ear lines, were merely obtained for speculative purposes, in the hope of selling them to third parties at a profit. Ex perience has proved that it is a much easier thing to grant these franchises than to annul them when their con ditions are not complied with.

As the Bee remarks, such a franchise as that proposed would protect a city without a bond, and would work no hardship to any applicant acting in

The police would do well to keep a lookout for too great recklessness with fireworks today. Last Fourth the corner of Main and First was transformed into a battlefield, immense bombs being hurled from one corner to another, to the imminent danger of passers-by, the terror of horses, and the destruction of considerable property. It is quite possible to exhibit

The stock of books removed from the old library quarters and placed on the new shelving provided by the Council, presents a very bare and desolate appearance, and speaks more strongly than anything else could of the urgent need of the appropriation asked for by the library directors for the purchase of new books.

A NEIGHBOR'S QUARREL,

WHICH ENDED IN THE KILLING OF WILLIAM TWEEDY

They Had Disagreed Over the Killing of a Bull and They Settled the Matter in a Blacksmith Shop -Wheeling the Shoote

Day before yesterday a serious shoo ing scrape took place at Maynard post-office, 10 miles west of Lancaster, in Antelope valley. It seems that Wayne O. Wheeling and William Tweedy met in a blacksmith shop between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when Tweedy said, "What did you kill my bull for? And in this broad faylight how rapid has been its advancement. Freed from the chains of hoary old superstitions and restraining tyranny, lifted above the crushing heel of tyrants and the trushing heel of tyrants and the trushing heel of tyrants and the weight of thrones, we are blazing a pathway for freedom for every race st under the sun. Sconer or later every land must recognize its sovereign only in the sovereign every land must recognize its sovereign every land must recognize its sovereign only in the sovereign every land must recognize its sovereign every land must recognize its sovereign every land must re at the same time picking up an iron bar about 18 inches long and starting

The bull was then shot, and the two famibull was then shot, and the two families have been bitter enemies ever since. Old man Tweedy lives near Florence and owns 2000 acres of land. The two families have been at outs for some time, and Wheeling has claimed that 35 or 46 head of his hogs have been killed. They had a lawsuit over the affair and the Herefords got away with it. Last month William Tweedy went to roundup some of his cattle, when young Wheeling took up two of Tweedy's horses. This has ended as all rows between neighbors

Mrs. Gier figured before Justice Lockwood vesterday in a disturbance case There was a family row in June, during which names were called and water was thrown. Then Mrs. Gier was arrested. She was discharged and Mrs. Gross was arrested. Mrs. Gross says Mrs. Gier's brother-in-law called her bad names, and Mrs. Gross retaliated by throwing a bucket of water on Mrs. Gier. Before the affair was settled the respective husbands had been drawn into it, and much violent language was indulged in. The principals and several neighbors were present in court, and the merits of the squabble were gone into at great length. The Court finally stopped the case and discharged Mrs. Gross, at the same time reading both sides a sharp lecture. He told them their quarreling must cease, and he would see to it that they will be punished if there is any repetition of the trouble. was thrown. Then Mrs. Gier was ar-

After a few questions had been asked regarding the bili, Iron Nation arose and addressed Gen. Crook. He said:

"Three Stars, I am going to sign because you tell me this is a good bill, but before I do so I want you to promise to be a good friend to the Indians here. We want to remain on the White River, and wish you to tell the Great Father."

Lefthand Thunder endeavored to check the movement for the bill, but was unsuccessful. Iron Nation signed first, and was followed in order of rank by the other chiefs. The conversion of Iron Nation. Little Pheasant, Dead Band and other leaders of last year's opposition was a triumph hardly equalled in the record of Indian nogotistions, and for-which the commissioners deserve great credit.

Yesterday afternoon Gen. Crook, at the request of the chiefs, had a private talk with them, and at this conference the programme which has been successfully carried out today was agreed upon. The Indians are signing as rapidly as possible.

A Prosperous Idaho Town Alm Destroyed. SALT LAKE (Utah), July 3 .- | By the As sociated Press. The fire which destroyed Hailey, Idaho, started in the Nevada bakery at the corner of Main and Carbonate street and spread with alarming rapidity. Every body thought the Merchants' Hotel, next t the corner, would stop the flames, but, owing to the high wind, the fire swept through the row of frame buildings to the hotel. The flames swept along Main street, hotel. The flames swept along Main street, consuming buildings supposed to be fire proof, as if they were tinder. The heat was so oppressive that the firemen had to desert their hose and hose-cart, and consequently the town was left at the mercy of the fire.

Word was sent to Belliville, five miles south, and her company hurried to the scene, with all available apparatus, but were too late to be of service. After leaving the Merchants' Hotel corner the fire swept to the south on to the next block, jumped a street to the west, and returned north along the street, burning all business-houses with the single exception of Friedman & Co.'s fire-proof building. Of four blocks of solid brick nothing is left but this one store.

The burnt district includes the entire business portion; and takes in but few residences, so there will not be any destitution.

And the Two Companies That Are at Strife to Obtain a Line Over Them—Report of Prof. Newberry as to Mineral Deposits on the Line.

It seems that there are a number of people who do not exactly understand the plans of the people at the back of the proposed road between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City. Two routes have been surveyed, and at the present time there are two syndicates at work. One syndicate is composed of Union Pacific people and New York

The into Obta Deposits. Some of the cool burnt in heaps in the open air has been used at the lead smelting furnaces of the Horn Silver mine at Frisco, and Br. A. G. Campbell, the manager of the works at that time, informs me, with satisfactory results.

West of Cedar Mountain, overlooked by the outcrops of the coal strata, lies avalley, or plain, opening north and south, and from eight to 12 miles. While the coal burnt in heaps in the south proposite to the works at that time, informs me, with satisfactory results.

West of Cedar Mountain, overlooked by the outcrops of the coal strata, lies avalley, or plain, opening north and south, and from eight to 12 miles. On the west it is bounded by a trifus of gravitate hills, which increase in height soft mard until they connect with Pine Valley Mountain, considered to be the southwestern terminus of the Wasatch Mountains. This belt of hills work. One syndicate is composed of Union Pacific people and New York and iron deposits referred to, I cannot but anticipate that this district will become the center of a large manufacturing industry, and also the source from which a great amount of these minerals may be advantageously shipped elsewhere. Having visited all the known important deposits of coal and iron in the United States, I have found nowhere else such a concentration of fuel and ore, and such a combination of facilities for the cheap manufacture of iron and steel. It is also true that a very large territory to the south and west is destined to be supplied with fuel for all purposes from this source. In Southern and Central Nevada, Northern Arizona and Southern California the large number of mines now worked would afford a daily market for some thousands of tons of coal for the generation of steam, lead smelting, etc., and the completion of the railroads now in process of construction will open up much rich country hitherto inaccessible, and will greatly stimulate mining industry. Hence it may be fairly expected that a large and constantly increasing business will be created in the supply of the fuel which must be the mainspring of these industries. All of the railroads were doing a subhiral purpose and the supply of the fuel which must be the mainspring of these industries.

Gleanings Here and There - Inter esting Local Intelligence-Preparations for the Fourth-Around About Town - Personal Gossip

PASADENA, July 3 .- [Correspond ence of THE TIMES.] The trial of Calvin L. Case, on complaint of H. A. Goff, as an accessory in the Rosenber ger liquor case, came up before Justice King at Garvanza this morning. The trial, as described by an attendant, was that the hearing was a complete farce. At 10 o'clock the services were begun by the singing of the Coronation, folred by the doxology, in the singing of which judge, jury, attorneys, witnesses and the motley crowd in attendance lent ready assistance. The ladies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and other ladies interested in behalf of the cause were in attendance and attentive listeners throughout. After the song service the usual pre-liminaries were gone through with, and the court adjourned until 1 o'clock. THE AFTERNOON

At the appointed time the case was resumed, and immediately G. A. Gibbs, attorney for the defendant, moved that the case be dismissed on the grounds that the court had no jurisdiction. Another song service intervened, while His Honor was in a brown study about what to do, but he finally mustered up courage to deny the motion. The witnesses on both sides gave their testimony, and the pleas of the attorneys were then heard. W. S. Wright, attorney for the prosecution, in summing up the case, admitted that there were technicalities, and for this reason moved for a light sentence. At 3:30 o'clock the jury retired, bringing in, 10 minutes later, a verdict of not guilty. As the six jurors filed out, they were grasped warmly by the hand and presented with a boquet of flowers by the ladies present. Gibbs, attorney for the defendant,

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH. The indications point to the fact that there will be a sweeping exodus of the population at an early hour on the Fourth. Picnic and excursion parties have been planning for some time and tomorrow will realize the hopes of those who have been contemplating trips to the seashore and mountains. Wilson's trail this evening was tramped by a regular caravan of passengers, who go up to spend the day on the peak. Landlord Steil has been making prep-arations for the rush; so also has Frank Chanay. Bads have been constructed chency. Beds have been constructed of rough boards, and covered with mattresses and covers, in anticipation of the rush. At a late hour this afternoon word was received in the city that nearly every burro had been engaged, which will be far from a source of comfort to the tardy ones. Arrigation pumps. PRACTICAL

IRRIGATION PUMPS.

No More Monopolies in the Water Business.

Every ranchman can now own and control all the water wanted. Every city and village can now have waterworks at prices in reach of all.

THE FAMOUS HUFFER PUMP!

The above cut is from a photograph of a 500-gallon pump in operation. This pump will only lift: 0 feet at sea level, but for this dis-tance it is not exceeded in fuel economy and lifting capacity by any machine in existence. These pumps are operated by steam boilers, and will throw from 50 to 2000 gallons per minute. They pump dirty or gritty water equally well, or 40 to 60 per cent. sand and gravel.

WHAT WE CLAIM:

First—These pumps can be bought and put in position ready for work, cheaper than any other pumps of the same water-lifting capacity.

Second—There are no pistons or packing to wear out and no loss of power in overcoming friction.

Third—The power is atmospheric pressure, produced by condensing the steam. They require no steam pressure except on a lift above that made by the atmosphere, which is 30 feet at sea level. t sea level.

Fourth—No skilled labor required to run
hem. Any ranchman can operate them.

The NYE PUMP

is a combined lift and force pump, making the same lift in the same manner as the Huf-fer pump, and then elevating the water 150 feet above the pump, if desired, by direct steam pressures. This pump, has no morine, parts in sight. There is nothing its superior, and it is already in extensive use by railroads, and in city water works, cemeetres, parks, private grounds and residences, public build-ings, large city blocks, etc., in the East. Some parties are using as many as twenty (30 of them.

(20) of them.

We invite the closest investigation into the claims made herein for these pumps, of simplicity, durability, cheapness and economy in use, Come to Stearns Manufacturing Co.'s Shops, Main and Date Sts., Los Angeles, And see one of these pumps at work, and we can convince you of what we claim for them. Offered in Tracts of $2\frac{1}{2}$, 5, 10, 20, 40 and 160 Acres TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

Over 4300 acres have been sold since February, 1, 1838. The soil is a deep, rich, sandy loam, very easy to cultivate. An inexhaustible supply of water.

Apples, Peaches, Pears, Prunes, Figs, Plums, Cherries, Persimmons, Raisins and Table Grapes, Loquats, Quinces, Apricots, Olives, English Walnuts, Chestnuts and Peanuts, as well as Grain and Vegetables of all kinds, grow to the highest degree of perfection WITHOUT IRRIGATION.

Mr. Milton Thomas and Mr. R. M. Town of this city, and Mr. Byron O. Clark of Pasadena, Cal., the well-known and experienced nurserymen, have purchased large tracts of these lands and planted them to orchards. They regard them as the very best lands in Los Angeles county for the cultivation of deciduous fruits, Olives and English Walnuts, and owing to their near proximity to Los Angeles City, the cheapest lands in Southern California at the price they are now offered.

Purchasers can make arrangements at the office of this company to have their lands planted in truits and vines of their own selection, and cared for 1, 2 and 8 years at the actual cost. Apply to magazine at Savannah was robb its content May 11, 1775. On Jun a meeting at Savannah appointed delegates to a committee of public safety, of which William Cawin was president. A provincial convention met on the 4th of July, 1775, and Georgia became the defective link in the American chain, and adopted the American Association. Delegates were also elected to the Continental Congress. Sir James Wright, the Governor, continued to issue proclamations, but his power was gone forever. DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

The subject of independence having een formally brought to the attenbeen formally brought to the attention of Congress by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia, on June 7, 1776, a committee was appointed to consider the subject. That committee reported a declaration of independence, drawn up by Thomas Jefferson on July 1st. When the report came up in the Committee of the Whole, nine colonies voted for it. New York delegates declined to vote, as they had received no instruction from their State: ceived no instruction from their State; Delaware was divided, while the Pennsylvania delegation gave three votes for and four against the Declaration, and South Carolina cast one vote for and three against the Declaration.

When the question came up for final action on July 4th, the two Pennsyl-vanians who had voted "No" absented themselves, and Cæsar Rodney of Delaware changed his vote to the affirma-tive, and South Carolina followed suit. The New York delegation still declined to vote. A slave-trade clause, denouncing King George for vetoing a bill abolishing the slave trade, was stricken out of Jefferson's draft. It was not till July 9th, when the new Congress of New York met at White Plains, that that State sustained the Declaration and it became the unani-mous act of the thirteen Colonies. CIRCULAR OF PRESIDENT MADISO Simultaneously with Brown's invasion of Canada, alarmed by reports of British armaments at Bermuda, of of British armaments at Bermuda, of which New York and sometimes the Chesapeake and Washington were to be the points of attack, President Madison, on July 4, 1814, issued a circular letter to the States directing them to detatch and hold for instant service their quotas of a rational force of 93,000. A new military district was also created, the Tenth, which was to consist of Washington, Maryland and Virginia north of the Rappahannock, THE CONDITION OF WASHINGTON. THE CONDITION OF WASHINGTON.

Oliver Wolcott of Connecticut, in a Oliver Wolcott of Connecticut, in a letter of July, 1800, described the condition of Washington at that time: "There is one good tavorn about 40 rods from the Caroling; but I do not see how members of Congress can get lodgings unless they will consent to live like scholars in a college or monks in a monastery, crowded 10 or 20 in a house and utterly secluded from society. The only resource is to live at Georgetown, three miles distant, over a very bad road in winter. There are but few houses here in any one place, and these are miserable huts, in awful contrast to the public buildings."

THE INDIAN TREATY.
On July 4, 1805; a treaty was On July 4, 1805, a treaty was concluded at Fort Industry, on the Maumee River, by Gov. William Henry Harrison, by which the Wyandottes, Ottawas, Chippewas, Delawares, Shawnees and other tribes relinquished all claim to the Connecticut reservation, in Ohio, for a perpetual annuity of $1000. This was in addition to $16,000 already paid or secured to some of the tribes by the Concured to some of the tribes by the Condition to $16,000 already paid or secured to some of the tribes by the Connecticut Land Company, who became the purchasers of this tract. By another later treaty, the Delaware and other tribes gave up all title to what is now the State of Indiana, within 50 miles of the Ohio River, except a narrow strip on the west bank of the Wabash. The Connecticut reserve was land claimed by Connecticut but ceded to the United States May 30, 1801. It contained 3,666,921 acres.

CAPITULATION OF VICKSBURG.

CAPITULATION OF VICKSBURG.
At length, his men being exhausted by 47 days' labor in the trenches, Gen. John C. Pemberten, in command at John C. Pemberten, in command at Vicksburg, perceiving that Grant was ready to make a final assault, asked for terms of surrender. The two commanders met under an oak tree at 3 p.m. on July 3d, and the next day the city capitulated with 27,000 men. The Federal loss was less than 9000, all told. During the siege a man could not show his head above the intrenchments without being picked off by the riflemen. A hat held for two minutes, at a port-hole was riddled with 15 bullets.

Shells searched every part of the city, and the cannon of the fleet and army fired 153,323 shots during the siege. To escape this ceaseless iron storm, the inhabitants burrowed in caves so that the city looked like a prairie-dog village.

In the Hellenbeck Block, Cor. Spring and Second Sts., Los Angeles, Cal. Oxygen, Compound Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide, and other inhalations, used in all DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.

We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our systems of practice in the cure of Asthma. Bronchits, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, while only the most improved methods are employed in all female complaints.

As is well known, Oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunder storms. Fersons often roquire more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and fresher air, or more oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the Ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth. Oxygen and Ozone are gases, and must be rrom the earth.

Oxygen and Ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these gases compounded with other suitable agents is perfect, and though they are not a cure-all-yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last twenty years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful. artiment of medicine, and the results are ruly wonderful.

absorption, improves digestion and assimilation, increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

The Lendon, Eng., Lancet, very truthfully says: "The compound oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the nineteenth contury." Clergymen, Statesmen, Lawyers, Doctors and all classes indiscriminately, wherever it is introduced, both use and recommendit.

The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome cases:
